MARK TWAIN MADE OVER MILLION

Samuel L. Clemens Was the Most Popular Author of the Century.

REMARKABLE BOOK SALES

Over Five Million Volumes of His Works Bought in the United States.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Harper and Brothers, publishers for the late Samuel L. Clemens, state that the royalties received by the late author on sales of his books amounted to over a million dollars. The sales of his books, according to the figures of the publishers, show him to have been the most popular author of the century.

Harper's statement shows that more than five million copies of Mark Twain's works were sold in America alone, since Harper became his sole publisher some years ago. In addition to this several million copies were sold abroad. There were translations into every modern language of his principal works.

Clemens died almost a millionaire, the money from sales of his works during the past ten years having accumulated for him a great fortune.

Funeral services will be held here today, in accordance with his wishes, the funeral service will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Vanduyke, who was an intimate friend. The remains will be interred in the family plot in Elmira.

FAIRBANKS DECLINED HONOR

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Charles Warren Fairbanks has been offered an appointment by President Taft as Special Envoy of the United States to the Argentine Republic and has declined. Mr. Fairbanks' health is too weak assigned for his not accepting the tender.

The office is that of special representative to extend the congratulations of the United States to the President of Argentina upon the opening of the exposition at Buenos Ayres which celebrates the centennial of the republic. Major General Leonard Wood, U. S. A., has now been asked to perform the service and it is expected that he will accept. He will depart on Friday and the stay in the South American capital will be very short.

EX-MAYOR DEAD.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Former Mayor E. B. Poiré died here today.

PRESIDENT TAFT STANDS BY HIS CABINET MEN

By Ernest G. Walker.

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Cabinet resignation rumors have recently been flying thick and fast, as if to have become a feature in the political developments of the week at Washington. They cropped out in such unexpected quarters, that the President and members of his cabinet have thought it expedient to enter emphatic denials.

At intervals for two months it has been guessed that Secretary of State Knox was about to quit because he and President Taft were not getting along well together. A comparison of the two men has been made by the press, and it has been found that Secretary Knox is a Democrat, while President Taft is a Republican. The two men have been working together in the treasury portfolio, and the President has been very kind to him. The President has been very kind to him. The President has been very kind to him.

While official denials are common to suspicion it seems that they are not authoritative and that the most serious rumors from the cabinet are being fully investigated. It is believed that the President has been very kind to him. The President has been very kind to him. The President has been very kind to him.

PREPARING FOR ANOTHER STRIKE

Such Is Said to Be Quietly Going on Among Japanese on All Plantations.

MAKINO KEEPS IN TOUCH

Japanese Had Advance Information of Worthlessness of Russians From Their Consul.

The Japanese laborers throughout the Islands are preparing for another strike, said a prominent Japanese yesterday, who is in close touch with the labor situation. "There is a great deal of dissatisfaction on the plantations and an organization is being quietly perfected that will suddenly paralyze this Territory when it becomes active. The next strike will be right in the middle of a grinding season and it will not be confined to Oahu, where strikebreakers are available."

This bears out what has been reported from other sources to The Advertiser. There will be nothing doing until the leaders, Makino, Negoro and Soga have served out their jail sentences. In the meanwhile the work of organization will be going on, without a stop. When the time comes, the Japanese on the majority of the plantations will stop work altogether, picking out a time when the effect will be most felt by the plantations.

It is known that Makino and his associates are keeping in touch with the situation. They, themselves, are not, it is understood, doing any of the planning, but they are being kept informed of what is going on.

The Nippon Jiji daily fans the embers of dissatisfaction among the Japanese, its policy being the same today as it was a year ago, when it was preaching strike and threatening the plantation managers with what was about to happen. The Jiji is widely circulated, a large increase in the capital stock of the publishing corporation having been recently taken up, thus furnishing funds for the continuance of its campaign while its regular editor is in jail. It is read in every plantation camp in the Islands and its work is effective.

The principal trouble comes, according to Japanese information, from an alleged abuse of the contract system. On some plantations, only oral contracts are made, the Japanese who insist on having written contracts being discharged as agitators. Those who accept the oral contracts find, as a report goes, that when the final settlement is made it is discovered that there is a difference between the agreement as viewed by the contractor and by the plantation manager, when the former is informed that the mistake has been through a faulty translation of his words by the interpreter.

The bonus system is not thoroughly understood by the laborers and their ignorance is being taken advantage of, say the better informed Japanese.

All these things, and the fact that there is on some plantations enough of severity on the part of the managers to furnish the Jiji with material on "valve drivers," are being taken advantage of to foment a future trouble and to create a large Japanese labor union.

No Money for Russians.

It has been supposed by some that there has been a Japanese fund in use to prevent the Russian experiment turning out a success. The best informed Japanese in Honolulu laugh at this suggestion.

What would be the use of the Japanese?

WHERE ROOSEVELT IS NOW.

ROOSEVELT IS GUEST OF PARIS

Dined by President of France, Greeted by Her Great Men.

GIVES AN ADDRESS TODAY

French Press Predicts That He Will Again be American President.

PARIS, April 23.—President Fallieres last night banqueted Colonel Roosevelt. After the dinner, which was attended by members of the government and was an impressive state occasion, there was a public reception in honor of the colonel, who continues to be the most talked-of man in Europe.

Colonel Roosevelt was greeted by many notables in the literary and scientific world, the reception following the banquet given by the President of France being a remarkable gathering of distinguished men.

The Paris press is filled with accounts of the doings of the American ex-President. Le Temps refers to him as the most conspicuous figure in the world, and other writers predict his reelection to the Presidency of the United States.

There is a tremendous demand for admission to the address to be delivered by Colonel Roosevelt today.

STEAMERS LOADING FOR TRIP HERE

SEATTLE, April 22.—The steamships Saint Nicholas, Graystone Castle and Middleham Castle, the first vessels of the new British line of freighters that will ply between Europe and British Columbia, are now loading at Antwerp and Liverpool for Puget Sound via Honolulu.

The Saint Nicholas is one of several steamers owned and operated by the British and Foreign Steamship Company. She is a vessel of 3504 tons and flies the British flag.

The Graystone Castle is also a British vessel of the modern freight-carrying type. She was placed in commission in 1906 and is operated by the Graystone Castle Steamship Company of Liverpool.

RIOTS IN CHINA.

HANKOW, China, April 22.—A critical situation exists in the Hunan province, where the recent outbreak of natives has taken place. The natives are burning villages and killing men, women and children. Reports reached here today of thirty students having been burned to death by the rioters.

The missionaries and foreigners are fleeing.

DECLARES SUNDAY PREACHING ILLEGAL

TOPEKA, Kansas, April 14.—Does the preaching of a sermon on the Sabbath for pay, singing in a church choir for compensation, and the playing of the church organ for money on the Lord's day constitute the breaking of Topeka's Sunday anti-labor law?

Mayor Billard says these things are just as much of an infringement of the ordinance as the working of actors and stage hands, who are now prohibited from following their vocation Sunday. Mayor Billard also calls attention to the operation of street cars on the Sabbath and to open drug stores, cigar stores, peanut stands and many other things. The plain inference is that he expects to make Topeka the "blue-law town" of the present Sunday and anti-labor law.

The first case to go to court is that of a man who is singing in the choir of the First Baptist church. He is being sued for $100. The case is being heard in the district court.

NOT INDICTED, BUT TO RESIGN

Internal Revenue Office Investigation Will Cause Many Changes.

There was no change yesterday in the matter of the investigation of the affairs of the local internal revenue office, except that Revenue Agent Thomas was again before the grand jury with the books of the office. Witnesses from Hilo have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury, though it is understood that their evidence is to be only corroborative of conditions shown by the books.

It is not probable that there will be any indictment returned by the grand jury, though there may be a recommendation of changes in the office. It is regarded as certain that Collector Drake and some, if not all, of his deputies will leave the internal revenue service.

So far as is known, there is not likely to be any charge of any intentional violation of the law or any dishonesty. The main trouble appears to be that the failure to observe certain of the very stringent requirements of the department regulations constitutes technical violation of the law.

Collector Drake has been regarded as a very capable officer, and has as many friends in Hawaii as any other man in the Territory. It is suggested that his desire to accomplish the main objects of the work of his department has led to his being lax in his observance of the red tape regulations.

The resignations of Drake, Doyle and Johnstone have, it is said, been sent in.

NIGGER STILL IN WOODPILE

Two Rumors Start Police on as Many Wild Goose Chases, but Grace Is Out Yet.

Yesterday morning some one saw a "nigger" in Kalia; last night somebody saw a "nigger" in Palama. Yesterday morning the detectives went flying out to Kalia; last night they had an adventure at Palama. But they didn't get Anderson Grace, the escaped murderer.

Despite the uselessness of the police thus far in locating the negro criminal, the chase is getting warmer and more interesting. Although the reports that have come in have never resulted in anything, at the same time they have been persistent in coming in from one district, Kalia, or neighboring vicinity. In nearly all the cases as most reported were supposed to have seen Grace and the time that the police arrived on the scene, owing to the delay in getting the news to headquarters, and the negro really had been seen by a middle-aged neighborhood. McBride is not believed to believe that Kalia new furnishes a retreat to the negro and accounts for the persistent reports from that district by the fact that there are a number of Porto Rican there who are being thought for escaped murderers. It is believed that the negro has been seen by a middle-aged neighborhood. Critics of Knox.

Secretary of State Knox has had more attacks since from the beginning of his tenure as premier of the administration. Stories were long ago current that the President and his cabinet were at his disposal and that he was being used as a puppet. The President has been very kind to him. The President has been very kind to him. The President has been very kind to him.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE THE LAW NOW

New Claim Advanced at National Convention Held in Washington.

THE LAW IS TO BE TESTED

Leading Suffragette Will Try to Vote and Go to Law if Not Allowed To.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—The national convention of the woman's suffrage association here was marked by many notable addresses. Aside from the sensational incident of the hissing of President Taft when he declared himself not altogether in sympathy with the objects of the convention, about the most striking feature of the convention was the address of Mrs. Trimble-Woolsey, of Kentucky, declaring that she proposed to attempt to vote in the next election, claiming that woman suffrage is the law of the land now, and that if she is not allowed to vote she will appeal to the courts and fight the issue to a finish.

Mrs. Trimble-Woolsey, whose grandfather and great uncle drafted jointly the first bill ever drawn on the American continent to secure to married women control of their property, declared today before the convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association that she intended to try to vote at the next election, and if restrained, to carry the question to the United States Supreme Court. Said she:

"It was not until after the adoption of the federal constitution that the States began to change the basis of representation from taxation to sex—a thing they had no right to do. But notwithstanding even the worst phase of the matter, the first constitutions of only three out of the thirteen original States used the word 'male' (Tennessee and Georgia coming in shortly afterwards) as a qualification for voting. Voters were only required to be free men, twenty-one years old, which white women certainly were, and freeholders, which women as owners of property certainly were, and to reside a certain length of time in the commonwealth. Thus, women are by right voters today in eleven of the Eastern and Southern States, as well as in the four Rocky Mountain States.

"Now usage has not forfeited this right to the ballot. Where dress or fraud has been perpetrated, ownership is not lost (women are prevented from the use of the ballot by dress and fraud), and the federal constitution besides strictly prohibits any State from taking away from any citizen a tested right.

"At the next election I intend to offer my vote and if it is refused I shall take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court. Since women could vote as freeholders in the British colonies and as seen under the first State constitution, I want to see just as whether this government protects the tested rights of women as well as its other class of citizens.

The report of the old-time Woman Suffrage Association, as presented to the national convention by President Kate H. Biggers, shows that the work of the new State constitution is being done. A petition bearing nearly 400,000 signatures to secure the word 'male' from the State constitution has been prepared and asks that the question be submitted to the voters at the next general or special election in October, 1910.

T'ao was the guest of honor last night at a public and official reception at the Palace Hotel. It was one of the most brilliant functions seen here in recent years. The Chinese Six Companies took a prominent part in the arrangements.

Mayor McArthur and other officials of the local government assisted in the public reception to the prince, and the military authorities also took part in the reception. The prince was given a special military guard, and his entertainment and reception here were most elaborate.

"MURDER AS A FINE ART"

Physician Being Tried on Charge of Causing Typhoid Fever.

In the trial of Doctor Hyde for the murder of Stella Swape today, the prosecution developed its theory that the doctor caused the death of the woman by introducing typhoid fever germs into her system through presents of candy infected with the germs. According to the theory under which the police are proceeding, the doctor deliberately set about to cause the death of the young woman by giving her typhoid fever. This is a form of poisoning without precedent in the criminal history of the country, and the case is attracting extraordinary interest.

It is charged that the doctor cultivated bacilli of typhoid from other patients, and planned to give them to his victim, and that he chose candy as the means of feeding them to her. The police are attempting to show his cultivation of the germs in his laboratory and prove that he used them to infect candy given to her by the young woman.

A nurse who was employed in the last illness of Stella Swape was on the witness stand today. She testified to the fact that the deceased developed typhoid fever two days after she had up some candy given her by Hyde.

"BACK FROM ELBA" AT NAPOLEON'S TOMB

PARIS, April 22.—Colonel Roosevelt visited the tomb of the great Napoleon today. He was the first American to do so since the war. He was accompanied by a large number of his friends and a detachment of the French army.
